DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group II, claims 3-5 and 8 in the reply filed on 5/12/2010 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 3-5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Geilhufe et al. (U.S. Patent Number 6,584,439).

In regard to claims 3, 4 and 8, Geilhufe et al. disclose an apparatus and method for controlling voice controlled devices. The apparatus comprises speech recognition means that acquires speech data representing a speech, and specifies a candidate for a phrase represented by the speech by performing speech recognition on the speech data (C-10, L-1-10); and control means control air conditioner which specifies a variable to be changed to obtain a result desired by an utterer of the speech, a direction in which the variable is to be changed, and a device which is to be controlled to change the variable, based on the candidate specified by the speech recognition means and data indicating statuses of the external devices to be controlled, and controls the specified device in such a way as to change the specified variable in the specified direction. Also, the control means control a device when a number of devices which are controllable in such a way as to change the specified variable in the specified direction (C-17, L-60 to C-18, L-13, C-26, L-60 to C-27, L-11 and C-13, L-22-35). Under the principals of inherency, if a prior art device, in its normal and usual operation, would necessarily perform the method claimed, then the method claimed will be considered to be anticipated by the prior art device. When the prior art device is the same as a device described in the specification for carrying out the claimed method, it can be assumed the device will inherently perform the claimed process. Ir re King, 801 F.2d 1324, 231 USPQ 136 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

In regard to claim 5, the control discriminates whether or not the utterer of the speech feels comfortable with a current condition based on a candidate specified by the speech recognition means, and stores a condition indicated by environmental data to be supplied at a time when it is discriminated that the utterer feels comfortable; and means which discriminates whether or not the utterer of the speech desires to obtain a condition with which the utterer felt comfortable in the past based on a candidate specified by the speech recognition means, and upon determination that the utterer desires, refers locally stored past environmental data, specifies a variable to be changed for obtaining a condition indicated by the referred past environmental data and/or a direction in which the variable should change, and controls the air conditioner in such a way that a specified variable changes in a specified direction (C-17, L-60 to C-18, L-13; C-19, L-27-37 and C-27, L-6-11).

Double Patenting

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claims 3, 4 and 8 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 4 and 5 of U.S. Patent No. 7,505,909. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows:

voice control air conditioner and other devices, speech recognition means, specifying a candidate, specifies a variable or direction change based on a candidate or operation status.
